The numbering of claims is not in accordance with 37 CFR 1.126 which requires the original numbering of the claims to be preserved throughout the prosecution. When claims are canceled, the remaining claims must not be renumbered. When new claims are presented, they must be numbered consecutively beginning with the number next following the highest numbered claims previously presented (whether entered or not).

Misnumbered claims 26-30 been renumbered 23-27. The drawings are objected to under 37 CFR 1.83(a). The drawings must show every feature of the invention specified in the claims. Therefore, the “kit comprising at least two electrode assemblies, wherein the axial and radial distance of each electrode assembly is selected for ablating a tumor of selected volume” and “the radial distance of each electrode assembly is less than four times the axial distance” must be shown or the feature(s) canceled from the claim(s). No new matter should be entered.

Corrected drawing sheets in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. Any amended replacement drawing sheet should include all of the figures appearing on the immediate prior version of the sheet, even if only one figure is being amended. The figure or figure number of an amended drawing should not be labeled as “amended.” If a drawing figure is to be canceled, the appropriate figure must be removed from the replacement sheet, and where necessary, the remaining figures must be renumbered and appropriate changes made to the brief description of the several views of the drawings for consistency. Additional replacement sheets may be necessary to show the renumbering of the remaining figures. Each drawing sheet submitted after the filing date of an application must be labeled in the top margin as either “Replacement Sheet” or “New Sheet” pursuant to 37 CFR 1.121(d). If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-3, 5-11, 14, and 15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by Gough et al ('143).

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 4, 12, 13, and 16-30 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Gough et al ('143) in combination with Swanson et al. Gough et al ('143) teach a device as claimed except for the specific disclosure that the current is passed from one electrode set to the other and the specific frequencies claimed. Swanson et al teach using frequencies in the 1 KHz range, to which tissue has a high resistivity. It would have been obvious to the artisan or ordinary skill to employ the frequencies in the 1 KHz range, since these are frequencies to which tissue has a high resistivity, as taught by Swanson et al, and would thus produce more heating, and to configure the device to produce current flow in the axial direction when there are multiple electrodes, since this would ablate the tumor more quickly than the procedure involving rotation, discussed by Gough et al ('143), and to provide multiple sets of electrodes with the particular relative dimensions claimed, since this is not critical; is well within the skill of one having ordinary skill in the art; and provides no unexpected result, thus producing a device, kit, and method such as claimed.
